UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND
SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

Dean Natalie Eddington

Dear students,

Another academic year has come to a close and what an exciting year it was.

Despite the challenges presented by the national, state and local economic crises, the School of Pharmacy persevered with its mission to enhance health through innovative pharmaceutical education, research, practice, and public service. With that mission continually in mind, the School implemented a revised and enhanced curriculum in August 2009 that promises to prepare our students for the expanding scope of pharmacy practice. This new curriculum was developed over four years with input from faculty, staff, preceptors, and our students. Even after its implementation, we continued to refine the content based on feedback from our students. It is with your input that we are able to offer a top 10 pharmacy education.

Your experiences at the School of Pharmacy extend beyond the classroom and labs into practice sites and the community. I continue to be amazed at the dedication our PharmD and graduate students show to community service, projects that not only spread the word about the pharmacy and pharmaceutical sciences professions but that also provide hands-on care for patients. In the 2009-2010 academic year, our students dedicated thousands of hours to community service, immunization clinics and health care reform seminars, tutoring programs for local school children, fundraisers for charities and organizations, health fairs and lectures on timely pharmacy-related topics. The list goes on and on. You should be very proud of the mark you are making on the University of Maryland, Baltimore campus and on the larger Baltimore community.

The experience you have juggling classes, studying, working and donating your time and energies to worthy causes will serve you well as a pharmacy practitioner or researcher. The demands for your time will be great out there in the "real world," but I feel confident that the School's top-notch faculty, staff and preceptors have prepared you well to handle those demands while providing you with the knowledge and skills to be leaders in and advocates for our profession.

As you look through the pages of the Terra Mariae, you will see many familiar faces and relive the fun of the previous year. As you look to the future, I hope you will always hold a place in your heart for the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy and consider how you can continue to be involved with your alma mater.

Best wishes,

Natalie D. Eddington

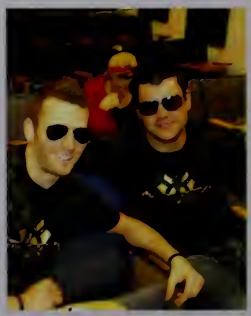
CLASS OF 2012



Class of 2012

A year of making memories!

As second year students, we were constantly warned that this was one of the harder, if not the hardest, year in pharmacy school. Despite the crazy schedule, many deadlines, sleepless nights, numerous assignments and back to back exams, we made it out (almost) completely sane. Even with the limited hours in the day, we took advantage of every opportunity to become a better future pharmacist and didn't hesitate to have fun while doing it! As I look back on this second year experience, I am convinced that the class of 2012 and this "time of our life" is very special indeed. Keep up the good work and make the most of every opportunity we have left here at UMB SOP, we're almost there!

my friends in Baltimore, thanks for getting me through 4 years, it's been amazing journey. To my friends back home, for supporting me when I got this crazy notion in my head, for listening when I needed it, for ncluding me in your life through pictures, videos and messages and for lowing me to spin in and out of your life. A simple "Thanks!" bares not e expression of gratitude I feel. To my parents who's sacrifice oft goes ntold but not unnoticed. I lack the words to appropriately thank you, ur support, patience, wisdom, strong words and gentle guidance helped put me on this path. Forever will I be thankful.

The goal of our organization is to promote independent pharmacy with the intent of increasing student awareness of its advantages, encourage newly practicing pharmacists to pursue pharmacy ownership, and support the already established positive image within the public.

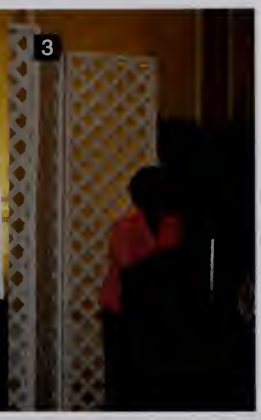
Fred Abramson
Faculty Advisor

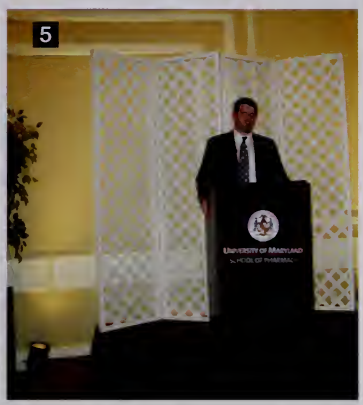
Owning a pharmacy is an opportunity to take what you have learned in school and apply it in a manner that is entirely up to you. Being an independent pharmacy entrepreneur is about having the freedom to not only conduct more patient-centered pharmacy practice, but also to provide unique services that will better serve your community. The true value of an independent pharmacy is seen in the millions of patients that benefit from the service and personal relationship that they receive.

National Organization

"NCPA represents the nation's community pharmacists, including the owners of more than 24,000 pharmacies. The nation's independent pharmacies, independent pharmacy franchises, and independent chains represent a $98 billion marketplace, dispensing nearly half of the nation's retail prescription medicines."

"For more than 100 years, NCPA has fought tirelessly to advance the business and professional interests of independent community pharmacists and their patients on Capitol Hill, at the White House, before federal agencies, and in state houses across the land. NCPA is a respected and forceful advocate in the corridors of power, known for its ability to quickly mobilize the grassroots voice of its members and the patients they serve. NCPA is the only national pharmacy association solely committed to protecting the interests of community pharmacists and their pharmacies."





NCPA Annual Banquet '09

A's 2009 members were able to discuss the advantages of independently owning your pharmacy at the annual spring banquet. There were many independent pharmacists in endance, all willing to share their experiences with us. The banquet is planned by the executive board and is part of being a member of NCPA.

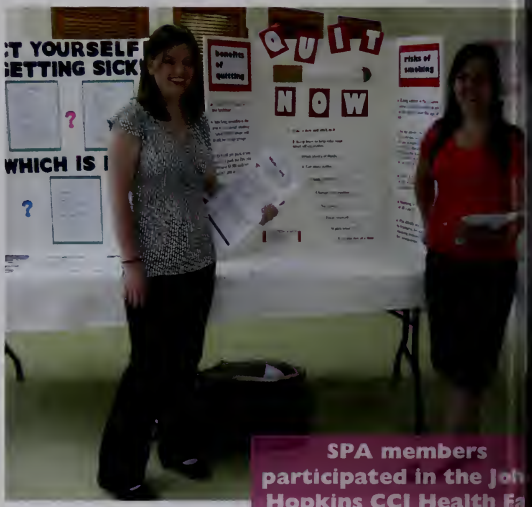
Students Promoting Awareness (SPA) strives to spread awareness about drug and alcohol abuse, nutrition, and smoking cessation to both the Unversity of Maryland, Baltimore student community and the Baltimore city community. Over the 2009-2010 school year, SPA has held drug abuse awareness campaigns within the student community and has participated in community outreach. SPA members joined forces with University of Maryland School of Medicine students to teach 3rd, 4th, and 5th graders about Brain Health, Heart Health, Childhood Obesity, Diabetes, and Digestion at a local charter school. SPA members also joined forces with Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine students and Israel Baptist Church to promote smoking cessation at the church's annual Community initiative health fair.

"It was so great to see all of the interdisciplinary participation at our annual Rock the Smokeout concert this year. It was great to work together with students from so many different professional schools to promote smoking cessation!"
Emily Dotter, SPA Secretary

SPA's signature event is Rock the Smokeout, a concert held in conjunction with the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokout. The event was sponsored by USGA and all funds were donated to the American Cancer Society.



SPA members participated in the Joh Hopkins CCI Health Fa in May 2010. Member focused on educatin health fair attendees about smoking cessati and the different options available for those ready to quit smoking.

Leadership SPOTLIGHT

"This year my focus for SPA was to get members more involved in our surrounding community. This is an essential element of promoting awareness for smoking cessation and making healthy lifestyle choices. As the transition of SPA merging with SCODAE reaches completion, the new hybrid organization hopes to continue reaching out into the community to promote healthy choices and drug abuse awareness." - Amanda Lysczek, SPA Vice President

Rock the Smokeout, SPA's annual concert event promoting smoking cessation, was held in October at the Southern Management Corporation Campus Center. Musical guests included student bands from the School of Pharmacy, Law and Medicine as well as individual performers.

Posted around the room were statistics about smoking, as well as ways to start the quitting process.

Dear Student Pharmacists,

It is an honor to serve as a faculty member at the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy. I am proud of the innovations, academic rigor, and variety of opportunities that are part of your educational experience.

I find inspiration in others, and one example is a quote from Mahatma Gandhi (1869-1948) who profoundly stated, "You must be the change you want to see in the world." Be the change in pharmacy. Respect traditions, but find a better way. Make our profession even better.
